

djSpade1

Turntable Specialist

Since the age of 10, djSpade1 has learned every aspect of music. In middle school he learned to play the saxophone, and while in high school he learned how to motivate crowds with a pair of 1200's and a microphone. Growing up in a military family, Spade1 started his career as a DJ in various project basements in Berlin, Germany. In 1992, he returned to the United States, and he enrolled in Virginia State University where he immediately immersed himself into the local music scene. While in college he swept the area nightclubs, house parties, and took over college scenes throughout the Mid-Atlantic. Performing alongside names such as Biz Markie, DJ Flexx, Ron G, DJ Kool and DJ SNS, Spade1 proved that he could rock just as hard as any big named DJ. Soon after, producing music became inevitable as he worked with many unsigned artists on mix-tapes while working to form his own independent label. Spade1 has been creating his own brand and sound for the past 20 years and continues to expand his scope. Recently he has started to branch into video, commercials, movies, and video games. He's currently working on several music and film projects including his self produced solo album, Uncle Spade: Life of a DJ.
